

A large rectangular area defined by a solid black border. A vertical dashed line runs down the left side of this area, approximately one-tenth of the way from the left edge, indicating a fold line for the template.